MARK GACESA

With over 20 years of industry experience, Mark Gacesa, MDIA, who has a Bachelor of Applied Science in interior design, launched his successful design studio Ultraspace in 2004. His projects take him all over Australia, many of them winning state and national design awards. A trend-setter rather than a trend-follower, Mark's glamorous, high-end project work consistently features innovate use of materials and extensive use of customisation. His unique and creative approach to design has recently piqued the interest of New York and LA-based television producers who describe his work as being way ahead of the curve.

"This is one of my most favourite spaces I have ever created — part of a luxurious formal entertaining lounge in a truly magnificent home. The client wanted to enjoy a 7-star living experience, so everything is hi-tech and custom designed to be unique and opulent in what is equivalent to a six storey residence."
